

Temple Beth Tikvah

Your Shul on the Shoreline

SEPTEMBER 2023 SHOFAR

Dear Friends,

In Judaism, community matters. The ideal way to enjoy a meal is with at least three people. We need ten adults to form a minyan. It's certainly permissible to study alone, but learning with a chevruta ('study partner' — from the same Hebrew root as 'friend') is among one of the most fulfilling paths in the spiritual life of a Jew.

To be Jewish is to share meaningful Jewish experiences with others. That's why I'm thrilled to introduce a new initiative called Kesher - קשר, which means 'connection' in Hebrew. Kesher offers a way to connect with fellow TBT folks in small affinity groups. Each group will meet at least once each month throughout the year, and will be facilitated by a member of TBT! Some groups will form around general interests; and others are Judaically focused. You can learn to cook delicious modern Israeli recipes, hit the slopes in a Jewish ski group, find support and guidance if you are caring for a loved one, sing new and classic Jewish music, and much more!

Why are we doing this? Well, you may have participated in one of our small-group parlor conversations last year. A common theme emerged: people who described their involvement at TBT as particularly rewarding often felt connected first through a small circle of friends. Often, these friendships blossomed while their kids were little or growing up through Bar/Bat Mitzvah. Some of these groups continue to meet after many years! Kesher is our effort to create fun, relational opportunities more proactively, across age and stage. And it just starts with having fun getting to know other TBT folks, once a month. Won't you join one of our pilot groups? More information can be found here: <http://www.tbts shoreline.org/kesher-groups>.

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Dear TBT friends,

This is a time of great transition for me and my family, as well as for all of us as a TBT congregational family.

My youngest child just left for college, and as the saying goes, we now have an “empty nest.” It is a challenging transition. Phil and I certainly feel great loss when we return each night to a clean, quiet, and calm (boring) home. However, it is intensely rewarding to see my three children pursuing their dreams, and to know that the foundation we helped them create has contributed to their sense of purpose.

This reflection is similar to how I feel about our High Holy Days this year. The sacrifice and the work we put into creating our sacred space while continuing to build community, is finally coming to fruition. This year, we are blessed to celebrate the High Holy Days in our synagogue after three long years of exile.

First and foremost, I want to express my sincere gratitude for the incredible sense of unity and resilience that our TBT community has displayed throughout the last three years. Despite many challenges, your unwavering commitment to our shared faith and values has been a source of inspiration.

The High Holidays are profoundly significant in our tradition, offering us the opportunity for introspection, renewal, and reconnection with our spiritual roots. I look forward to sharing these experiences together in our beautiful new building. So, please join us for Selichot on September 9th, when we will consecrate our Sanctuary and bring our Torahs home.

In closing, I must admit that I don't really like the empty nest metaphor. I prefer to think of my home as a fun, exciting retreat center, or even as a serene, replenishing spa. A place where my kids can come when they need some TLC, want to reconnect, or simply need a place to think, to relax, and to grow. This year may Temple Beth Tikvah also be such a place for all of you.

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Karen", followed by a long, horizontal, slightly wavy line extending to the right.

TBT BOOK CLUB

Book Club will meet on Wednesday, September 27th at 7:30 p.m. on Zoom.

This month's book club book is The Last Kings of Shanghai.

By the 1930s, the Sassoons had been doing business in China for a century, rivaled in wealth and influence by only one other dynasty--the Kadoories. These two Jewish families, both originally from Baghdad, stood astride Chinese business and politics for more than 175 years, profiting from the Opium Wars; surviving Japanese occupation; courting Chiang Kai-shek; and losing nearly everything as the Communists swept into power. In The Last Kings of Shanghai, Jonathan Kaufman tells the remarkable history of how these families participated in an economic boom that opened China to the world, but remained blind to the country's deep inequality and to the political turmoil at their doorsteps. In a story stretching from Baghdad to Hong Kong to Shanghai to London, Kaufman enters the lives and minds of these ambitious men and women to forge a tale of opium smuggling, family rivalry, political intrigue, and survival.

RAISE THE ROOF

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR OUR HABITAT FOR HUMANITY BUILD DAY

Sunday, October 29, 2023, 9:00 a.m. - 3:30p.m.
33 Elliot Street, New Haven, CT

Come join our day to help finish building the future house of Jessica Smalls and her four children. This is a wonderful opportunity to work with TBT friends to help complete the start-up work we did back in April. This will be the 20th house that Temple Beth Tikvah has helped to build as part of Raise the Roof, the shoreline's connection to Habitat for Humanity.

To Volunteer: The minimum age is 16 years old. There is NO experience needed, as we work under the guidance of the Habitat Construction Supervisor, and there is a job for everyone. This is a great opportunity for high school students to earn needed community service. We need 10 volunteers and it is on a first come, first served basis.

Registration is Required: Go to www.raisetherooft.org and click on How to Volunteer or I Want to Build. This will guide you through the Volunteer Up registration process with Habitat for Humanity. If you need help with registration you can email Heather at contactus@raisetherooft.org or Allison Mangles, Volunteer Coordinator, Habitat for Humanity of Greater New Haven amangles@habitatgnh.org or call (203) 785-0794 ext. 110. For questions regarding our TBT build day, contact Linda Brody.

KESHER CIRCLES

Looking for a new hobby?

Or a place to indulge in an old one?

Or just want to connect to fellow TBT members in an intimate and meaningful way?

Kesher circles has it all. Join one and enjoy your favorite activity, deepen your bonds with your community and have some fun. Read more here about the groups that are starting this fall. We look forward to seeing you there.

HAVERIM

Haverim will hold its annual tailgating party on Sunday, September 10th at 9:30 a.m. in the lower parking lot.

Wear the colors of your choice, even if it's not football, and bring your favorite tailgating food. We'll have the traditional Bloody Marys and Kosher Hot Dogs. Bring a chair and let's all catch up with each other after the summer break.

KOL AMI

Special thanks to all our Garden Gathering Kol Ami members, Rena Powell and Tannus Schlam and, most recently, Amy Lipper. She and John were most gracious and their gardens are lovely! Special thanks to Tannus for her hard work on this great new addition! We hope we can make it an annual event!

Our regularly scheduled programming will start in October (except for hikes which continue).

Be on the lookout for a kickoff event...perhaps another wine tasting, movie nights and our monthly Rosh Chodesh celebration as well as other surprises coming your way. How about a reprise of last year's Chanukah swap?! Have ideas for programming? We want to know! Please contact us at the emails below.

Meantime, we hope to see you on Sept. 9th for Selichot and The Rededication of our Torah Scrolls. It will be a beautiful evening in our new Sanctuary. And then on to The High Holidays!

L'Shana Tovah,

CHESED COMMITTEE

Dear TBT Members,

Thank you for the great response we received from our initial survey. The TBT community once again proved what a caring and supportive congregation we are. Now that we know there are many who are ready, willing, and able to help, we are asking you to take one more survey so we can connect the names with the interest as we realize the format we used to generate information was unable to include actual names of people.

Roughly translated, Chesed means loving-kindness which many Jewish scholars consider to be Judaism's primary ethical virtue. Chesed is a core value of TBT and our committee's mission is two-fold:

To organize opportunities to support members of our community (in good and bad times).
To create opportunities for members to support others (in good and bad times).

In this way we can both give and receive...Chesed.

Please click here for the link to our survey.

With the New Year approaching, we want to take this opportunity to thank you for participating and wishing you all a Happy and Healthy 5784.

CREATE A JEWISH LEGACY FOR TEMPLE BETH TIKVAH

Maintaining the vibrancy and strength of our Jewish community is of the utmost importance to many of us. How do we ensure that our synagogue continues to exist for future generations and remains financially stable to meet current and future needs?

Endowments are an essential element of every Jewish organization's financial stability strategy. Legacy giving can transform TBT by assuring that we build an endowment that can ensure our future.

By partnering with the LIFE & LEGACY™ program of the Harold Grinspoon Foundation and with the Jewish Foundation of Greater New Haven, TBT has joined hundreds of Jewish organizations across the United States in creating a program to secure legacy commitments that will help us secure a thriving Jewish future. Our "Create a Jewish Legacy" committee, chaired by Sabrina Maurer, is striving to integrate legacy giving into our philanthropic culture, and to provide you - our generous and forward-thinking members - with the opportunity to express your commitment to sustaining a strong future for TBT.

Our legacy donors are congregants, just like you, who understand TBT is the future our founders imagined and want to ensure that we continue to be the supportive and vibrant community we are today. Please join us!
